Outlook

- Numerical IST for decaying data is effective for the IVP but currently does not make use of any fast transforms.

- Nonlinear superposition allows for the combination of solutions from "different" IVPs.

- Numerical IST for periodic data is effective and can handle large(ish) genus — FMM for larger?

- Is there an effective method to bypass deformations?